Runaway Sale.

—The ladies of the Congregational church announce the continuation of their sale of Bargains, Oct. 21, opposite the National Bank. There will be new stock. Don't miss the bargains.

Mail Order Houses.

Plans for an aggressive campaign against the mail order houses are being considered by Fond du Lac merchants. A meeting of the merchants will be held soon and at that time some definite action taken in the matter.

About a year ago the merchants began a fight against the mail order houses and were so successful in their first effort that they have determined to continue the work. It is understood that merchants throughout the state are also organizing for a fight against the large city houses, which have made some merchants in the smaller towns go out of business.

"It would astonish the general public to know the exact amount of money taken out of this city and county daily by the mail order houses," said one merchant this morning. "From investigations made by a few of the merchants it has been found that the amount of money sent to the mail order houses annually from Fond du Lac and the vicinity yearly runs into the thousands and some months exceeds $1,000."

Frank Stahl for Treasurer.

Now that election day is drawing nigh, it might be well for the voters in this vicinity to make up their minds who they are going to vote for for the office of county treasurer.

The democrats feel that they have put up a good man in the person of Frank Stahl. Mr. Stahl was originally a farmer up in the north end of the county. He was elected sheriff of Wood county and came to this city to live and has since made his home here. During his residence among us he has several times been honored with offices of trust, and he has never failed to do his duty to the latter. He has several times held the office of treasurer of the city of Grand Rapids, making a faithful and efficient officer.

Make a cross after Mr. Stahl's name when you go to the polls on election day and you will not be sorry for your action later on.

The Charge Was Changed.

Stevens Point Journal—Victor Gionzowski, who was arrested at Port Edwards on a warrant charging him with having committed an assault upon an old woman in the Fourth ward, had his preliminary examination before Judge Murat this afternoon. On account of the attendance of a considerable number of witnesses the proceedings were held in the court room. District Attorney Nelson appeared for the state and D. I. Siskelsted for the defendant.

After some testimony had been taken, the charge against the defendant was changed to assault and battery. To this he pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs, the whole amounting to about $15.

Charged With Arson.

Sheriff Welch went to Milwaukee on Tuesday for the purpose of bringing to this city Miss Viola Polawitz who is charged with having burned a barn on the premises of her sister east of the city.

The story is to the effect that Viola lived with her sister Edith and that they had some trouble, and that in order to have revenge on her sister Viola set the barn afire, which was burned to the ground. She then left for Milwaukee, where she has since been working, and where she was arrested by detectives on Monday.

BIRTHS.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. August Henke of Sigel.
A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Newman of the west side.
A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Kromer at Minneapolis last week.

The Wood County National Bank people have purchased the O. E. Blodgett building on the corner of Second and Vine streets. Whether it is the intention to improve the property and put a business block on it cannot be said at this time.

The paraphernalia in the Olympic theater has been packed up and it is the intention to remove the outfit to Ladavath, where a show will be opened up.

Mr. McGee Speaks.

Hon. C. A. McGee appeared at the opera house on Friday evening and addressed the voters of the city on the campaign issues of the day from a republican standpoint. Mr. McGee ripped the democratic party up the back and down the front. That is, he probably thought he did, which probably satisfied himself, and possibly a few others in the hall, but not a great many.

There was never a time in the history of the country when the people are so willing to listen to a good argument on any side of the political question, but there was never a time when they cared so little for the grand stand oratory common to many political speakers such as Mr. McGee handed out to them. They do not care at the present time to hear the other side abused, that is not argument, but they do want to hear what each side has to offer.

Mr. McGee started his speech with a half full and ended with about half of the seats empty. This fact is not to be applauded as any man who goes to a political speech, or anything else, should remain in his seat until it is finished and give the speaker his undivided attention. If a man does not care for political speeches he should stay at home instead of going and then going out during the middle of the speech some time. Although the talk may not be interesting to him, there are undoubtedly people present who are enjoying it and their feelings in the matter should be considered.

Mr. McGee's speech may be considered hot stuff by some of the people, but it is not the kind of argument that people want to hear today. It is safe to say that the did not make any republican votes, the tendency being rather in the opposite direction.

Death of Mrs. Rowler.

Mrs. E. B. Rowler, one of the old residents of this city, passed away at her home on the west side on Tuesday after an illness of about a week. Mrs. Rowler had been failing for some time past, but had been confined to her bed only about a week, and the final summons came quite suddenly.

Mrs. Rowler was born at Orb, Switzerland, on the 24th of March, 1831, and was consequently 74 years of age. She came to this country with her parents in the early fifties, the family locating at Highland, Ill. In 1854 she was married to E. B. Rowler at St. Louis, Mo., and came to Grand Rapids in 1858, where she has since resided.

Mrs. Rowler is survived by four children, they being Mrs. Frank Garrison and E. C. Rowler of this city, Edmund Rowler of Plover and A. A. Rowler, who is a resident of New Mexico.

The funeral will be held on Friday from the house, Rev. Staff of the Congregational church to conduct the services.

Mrs. George Jones, a niece of Ishpeming, Mich., is expected here to attend the funeral.

Death of Mrs. Daly.

Mrs. Matt Daly, one of our old residents and mother of drought John E. Daly, died at her home on the east side on Tuesday afternoon from bright disease after an illness of several weeks. Deceased had been failing for some time past but it was only during the past few weeks that she was confined to the house.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Martha Wright, was born in Alleghany county, New York, in January, 1846. Her people moved to Friendship in Adams county in 1853, where they conducted a hotel. Mrs. Daly came to this city in 1865, and about a year later was married to Timothy Daly. Mrs. Daly has since made her home in this city.

She is survived by one son, John E. Daly, of this city. She has living also three brothers and two sisters, they being William A. Wright of New Lisbon, William H. Wright of Grand Rapids, LeRoy Wright of Friendship, Mrs. Harriett Yont of Onondago and Mrs. Allen Atcherson of Friendship.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, from the home of John E. Daly, Rev. Staff officiating. Interment in Forest Hill cemetery.

$10,000 IN SMOKE.

Pioneer Wood Pulp Company's Mill Burns Sunday Night and is a Total Loss.

The mill of the Pioneer Wood Pulp company burned on Sunday evening, the loss being estimated by the owners at about $10,000. There was no insurance on the property.

The fire was discovered shortly after eight o'clock and it spread very rapidly, so that the fire company which responded promptly to the alarm that was turned in, were unable to do anything except save the surrounding buildings, which they managed to do by hard work, as the fire was a very hot one. The mill had not been in operation for some time past, and it was without everyone that the fire had been set by some person or persons whose object was simply to see something burn.

Later developments proved this to be the case, as on Monday Sheriff Welch succeeded in rounding up a gang of boys who, by their own confession are responsible for the three mysterious fires that have occurred during the past few weeks.

The boys are Earl Hein, Henry Podawitz, Francis Sell and Leo Olaus. They not only plead guilty to being the cause of the fire, but also admit that it was them that broke into the shop of D. M. Huntington on Sunday evening and stole several revolvers and a number of cartridges.

It seems that the boys during the past summer have established a camp on Long Island where they had been in the habit of holding meetings where they at times remained for a day or two. Here they got their own meals and got their grub in the way that was hauled for them, and their object in stealing the revolvers and ammunition was for the purpose of completing their arsenal on the island.

After the boys had been arrested by Sheriff Welch and charged with the crime they seemed to have little or no hesitancy about admitting their guilt, and seemed to think that the crime did not amount to much. Earl Hein told of the different fires and how each one had been set. He stated that in the case of the Rowler barn he had been accompanied by Delbert Bliss, and that the hay in the barn had been lighted with matches after which they had run up to the Green Bay depot.

He stated that in the case of the Grand Rapids Poultry Co's building those interested were Hein, Henry Podawitz and Leslie Bliss. That the boys had gone to the Bliss residence where they had procured some gasoline which was taken to the building where it was poured into the elevator shaft and set fire.

On Sunday night Earl Hein, Henry Podawitz and Francis Sell visited the plant of the Pioneer Wood Pulp Co's plant where they set fire to the building by burning up some dry paper and pulp which they found about the place. Then they went to the Huntington shop where they forced an entrance to the back of the building and stole the revolvers and ammunition, making their escape without attracting any attention.

This is the story as told by Earl Hein, and is no doubt in the main true. However, the story of Delbert Bliss, who was with Hein on the evening that the Rowler barn was burned was to the effect that he knew nothing of what was going to be done until they were across the street from the barn and that it was then that Earl promised that they set fire to the barn, saying that the building was no good and might as well be burned. That Hein had crossed the street and set fire to some hay near the door of the barn and immediately ran away. Young Bliss saw the blaze and realizing that it would be better to get away from the neighborhood, had also run in the direction of the Green Bay depot, and continued in a roundabout way to his home.

In the case of the Poultry fire, the story as told by the others is somewhat different than that told by Hein. It seems that on that evening the three younger Bliss children had walked a part of the way down to meet their sister who was attending the show that was in progress that evening. They state that they met Earl Hein on their way with them as stated by Hein. That Hein proposed to set the foundry building afire as it was of no use and not worth anything and would be better off of the way. That he was advised by Leslie Bliss not to do so, but that he paid no attention to their advice and went down to the building and fired it. The other children in the bunch, seeing that he intended to carry out his plan, had left and gone home. The little Bliss girl is only seven years old and tells a pretty straight story about the way it all happened and is probably telling the truth. The Bliss children also state that no gasoline was procured at their house that evening, and it is supposed that Hein got some kerosene at the band room, as he had been around there that evening.

The rounding up of these boys has caused a sigh of relief to escape many of our citizens, and it was evident in each case that the fire was always some diary origin, as it was always some building that was not occupied, and there was no telling where the next conflagration would be. It is doubtful if any of the boys realized the enormity of their crime in regard to the burning of the buildings, as there has been a lot of talk about the town of late about getting rid of the bluffs along the river banks, and that a few would be a lot and in some cases, all of which has a tendency to affect the common mind and on most things to them that are older persons who had reached mature years would not think of "blowing" the town, but thought that the town would more than offset the loss.

No examination of the boys has been made as yet, the sheriff having been out of the city on Tuesday on business, but it is expected that one will accompany them to court. There was no examination of the boys made after all the facts are known.

NO LONGER SEVERE

SEASON'S TAILOR-MADES INCLINE TOWARD FUSSINESS.

Marked Change Noted in Costumes Intended for Street Wear—Manish Lines and Cut No Longer in Style.

The tailor-made suit has reached that point in the estimation of the average woman that it is her first purchase at the opening of each season. She may indulge in odd conceits or try experiments with her house frocks, but when it comes to the tailor-made suit she makes her appearance on the street this must come from the hands of its maker absolutely correct to the smallest detail.

The general tendency of the tailor-made suit this fall is toward heaviness. The dark stripes gives the appearance of receding into the background, with black, is shown, in combination with black and leather color, green and brown, prime and black, a very rich magenta or a chart and plum color also combined with black.

In fact much dull, dark red, verging on purple is shown, in combination with black, a combination by the way, which we have not seen since our grandmothers wore it. More browns and greens are shown in combination than the long popular blue and green.

Braid will be used in great quantities for trimming, also appliques of cloth outlined by cord. Buttons are very large, and collars and trimmings on cuffs show a marked return to velvet.

Skirts vary tremendously. While there is a pronounced movement toward the plaited skirt, as it was worn in various forms will appear on the new skirts. The plain skirt, however, has disappeared, and certainly all skirts are longer.

For shopping and all ordinary street use, they barely escape the ground. For semi-tailored costumes, suitable for calling, church, etc., the skirt touches.

The illustration shows a model peculiarly suited to the tall, slender figure. The skirt is a perfectly fitted princess pattern, cut almost to the bust line. It fits snugly about the waist and hips, then just above the knees shows inverted plaits which give it the necessary flare.

To Clean White Silk.
If one desires snowy whiteness, silk should never be allowed to become badly soiled—that is, so that the silk is yellowed. Dust the garment and wash in rather warm (not scalding hot) water with white soap, thus the last water being quite blue, hang up and allow to get just dry enough to press nicely with a warm iron. If this is followed out, white silk will stay white. Care must be taken with the blue water not to have it too blue, and yet blue enough to help the silk retain the "wet" shade.

Should silk merely need spongeing, no iron should touch the surface. If rolled while damp on a broomstick it will dry in a day or so. When there are grease spots, apply the time-honored remedy, powdered magnesia, and the wrong side under a cover, and if then, after some hours, rub with it and if not wholly cleansed, apply again.

OLD CLOTHES AND NEW STYLES.
"Fixing Over" Always Apt to Be a Troublesome Question.

This is a question that troubles every woman more or less when she is confronted by old clothes and new styles. Possibly you have in your wardrobe two old skirts of the same material which may be combined satisfactorily. As long as the two materials are of the same color, great liberties may be taken, but when plain material is to be combined with figured it is necessary to use one material for all the long lines and the other for the trimming.

It is well worth while to alter your clothes, for no part of the costume changes in style so quickly and radically as the sleeve, and an old-fashioned sleeve often causes an otherwise good-looking outfit to look out of date. This season the shoulders of shirt waists and blouses are deeper than heretofore, so it is necessary to lengthen the shoulder line somewhat before putting in the modernized sleeve.

Brading is used to great advantage in fixing over last season's frocks. A yoke or even a whole front of a waist may be pieced many times and the seams entirely hidden by the design.

The Waist of Heavy Lace.
One of the season's fancies is for the waist of heavy lace, Irish, Italian or piece lace, trimmed with bands, pipings and strappings of laces. These lace waists are very open and are worn over colored slips or over a slip of white. Fancy rather turns to the all-white slip these days, and even in winter it bids fair to be popular. The overwaist of heavy Irish lace, with its lining of white taffeta, is both beautiful and durable.

The Latest Fad.
There are always fashions in holding up the dress, and the latest is to catch up the gown as a trifle to the front in order to show the smart shoe and stockings. A novelty that comes from Paris is to wear low black slippers with colored stockings, and occasionally the heels are made to match the hue of the alken hose—Home Chat.

Easy to Trim Stockings.
Luxury at Command of Any Girl Skillful with the Needle.

Every girl likes one pair of fancy and rather elaborate stockings, but there are a great many pocketbooks which cannot afford to buy these luxuries ready made. Still, any girl who is at all handy with her needle can have these and not at a great deal of expense.

Select some lace motifs or medallions of some design which you like. A butterfly design is easy for the first and often a place of black lace or embroidery can be found which will contain several of these.

These ornaments may be sewed on silk or thin lisle stockings. Baste the design on as smoothly as you can, for it will be impossible to sew it on neatly and daintily unless the basting outside edge of the design is first basted, and when the ornament is securely fastened to the fabric the stocking may be turned inside out and the material carefully cut away from the edges.

who insist upon simplicity and slender proportions. The average shopper will fall into line and select one of the mixed, heavy looking cloths.

These are not necessarily rough, but they are woven in the most wonderful combinations of colors and patterns. Cloudy effects of all sorts prevail, and while stripes are much used, they do not appear in the bold, direct weaves that we had during the spring and summer.

The darker stripes gives the appearance of receding into the background, with black, is shown, in combination with black and leather color, green and brown, prime and black, a very rich magenta or a chart and plum color also combined with black.

From the State Capital

Items of Importance to Wisconsin People, Gleaned at Madison.

Madison.—Wisconsin won a gold medal for the best exhibit of laws and ordinances for the prevention of tuberculosis in force June 1, 1928. Wisconsin won second honors for plans which have proven best for raising money for the crusade against tuberculosis. A third award is anticipated for Wisconsin for the fine exhibit on the agricultural department of the university. Wisconsin's chief executive health officer, Dr. C. A. Harper, received the honor of election as president of the State and Provincial Boards of Health of North America.

"Wisconsin took two prizes at the Washington convention, and possibly a third will be forthcoming," stated Dr. C. A. Harper, secretary of the state board of health, who has returned from the national capital, where he attended as delegate to the International Congress on Tuberculosis. The work of this congress, which was attended by famous scientists and leading members of the medical profession from all over the world, has attracted greater attention from the general public than the usual big scientific meeting—not only because of its ensemble of distinguished men, but because of the universality of interest. It is the work—the campaign attached to its work—the campaign against tuberculosis of other month.

By direction of the right eminent grand commander, Ivanhoe commander No. 24, Milwaukee, was given as the special escort to the grand commander.

Appeals for Help for Homeless.
James Kerr, chairman of the town of Madison, Sawyer county, has appealed for help for forest fire sufferers of that section. He says many have lost everything and that the situation is serious. Many not only lost their homes, but their personal effects, and practically everything they had in the world was consumed. The winter's store of food for the stock was burned in the meadows. The letter is in part as follows:

We have a lot of new settlers that have come here within the last two years. For weeks they have been fighting fire day and night and some of them have been practically all they had. Many of them removed what things they had in their homes to places of safety, as they supposed, but the fire came and burned up everything. The winter's store of food on the meadows has been destroyed, which leaves the stock without food. A great many have lost everything, houses, furniture, stock, hay, grain and practically everything they had. Winter is near at hand and the situation is very serious.

La Follette as Editor.
United States Senator La Follette is to start a Commoner. It will not be called the Commoner, however, and in fact the name, if decided upon, has not been made public. The announcement of the senator's intention was made by him in person in the following statement which he gave out:

"The increasing demands upon me for addresses and for such printed matter as representative government is furthering for public distribution, have impressed me with the belief that I should establish a weekly paper, published primarily in support of government by the people. With assured support I shall proceed at once with the regular publication of a weekly magazine, devoted to the public interest upon lines broad enough to appeal to the progressive people of the country. I shall print the records of public opinion and political parties on vital questions. I shall discuss men and measures impartially and fearlessly."

Master Bakers Meet at Racine.
The fourth annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Master Bakers was held here three days. The association has 112 members from every city of the state. President O. O. F. was held in Antigo. The military branch of the order, the Patriarchal Militant, held its fifteenth session here at the same time. Col. A. J. Holsen of Viroqua presided over the deliberations of the presidential council of the Patriarchal Militant. Reports of the grand officers of both organizations showed that a prosperous year was experienced by each branch of the order.

Blames Birds for Fires.
That losses aggregating thousands of dollars are caused annually by chimney fires due primarily to birds nesting in the chimneys during the summer, is the unique discovery made by State Fire Marshal Purcell, who urges all householders to thoroughly clean the troughs on the roofs of all dry leaves that may have collected there during the summer and early fall.

State Old Fellows in Encampment.
The sixty-first annual session of the Grand Encampment of Wisconsin, I. O. O. F., was held in Antigo. The military branch of the order, the Patriarchal Militant, held its fifteenth session here at the same time. Col. A. J. Holsen of Viroqua presided over the deliberations of the presidential council of the Patriarchal Militant. Reports of the grand officers of both organizations showed that a prosperous year was experienced by each branch of the order.

Again Choose Weissert.
Members of Company K, Eighth Wisconsin Volunteers, held their forty-second annual reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith in Racine, with 150 survivors present. A feature of the gathering was the reading of statistics by Dr. A. Weissert of Milwaukee of the number who went to war, their ages, those killed, and the living. Officers were elected as follows:

President—A. G. Weissert, Milwaukee. Vice-president—Joseph Layton, Grand Secretary and treasurer—J. N. Felch, Milwaukee.

Prizes to Milwaukeean.
Utilizing an appropriation of $600 made at the last session of the legislature for plans for one, two and three-room country school buildings, 13 prizes were awarded by a board that examined over 3,000 designs which were submitted. P. M. Christianson of Milwaukee was awarded first, second and fourth prizes for his plans for a three-room building. Knapp & West of Seattle, Wash., were awarded third prize for one-room building plans.

Was Due to Hemorrhage.
There will be no investigation into the sudden death of Miss Ada Reiss, stenographer in the law office of La Follette & Rogers, who was taken ill at the Puller opera house and died within an hour.

Dr. C. F. King Retired.
Dr. F. King of Hudson, assistant surgeon of the National Guard, has been placed upon the retired list of the guard, having reached the age for retirement provided by law.

Designs New Fountain.
New Richmond.—Prof. C. J. Brewer, superintendent of the New Richmond city schools, has designed a cupless drinking fountain with an ascending stream of water, from which the school children drink without cup of any sort.

WEALTH IN FAVORS

ITEEL KING GIVES $16,000,000 TO HIS CHILDREN.

W. H. Singer of Pittsburgh Places Riches to Extent of $4,000,000 at Plate of Each Child on Occasion of His Golden Wedding.

Pittsburg, Pa.—At the golden wedding dinner of himself and wife, W. H. Singer, an iron king, distributed $16,000,000 among his four children, each setting $4,000,000. Through the filing of certain papers in the Allegheny county courthouse the other day this came out. It later was admitted by the Singer family.

Mr. Singer invited his children to the family home, 321 Western avenue, Allegheny, to assist in celebrating his golden wedding anniversary on May 27th. None but the children was invited, and each one found by his or her plate a small dinner "favor" of checks, bonds and deeds amounting to $4,000,000 each.

The four children who received these small gifts are as follows: William Henry Singer, Jr., landscape painter, now in Norway, where he spends most of his time. George Singer, from manufacturer of Pittsburgh, now in the White mountains on his vacation.

Mrs. William Ross Proctor, wife of a Philadelphia architect. Margaretta Singer, a younger daughter who resides at home.

Mr. Singer, who has a fortune of his own, received several pieces of valuable real estate as her golden wedding present.

Mr. Singer made his fortune as a member of the famous iron firm of Singer, Nimick & Co. He also was connected with many banking institutions in Pittsburgh, and is considered one of the great men of the country. His net worth, after giving his children their fortunes, being $15,000,000. The family is considered one of the oldest and best in Pittsburgh.

A peculiar feature of the case was made known recently. William Henry Singer, the son who chose painting rather than the iron business, is his millions in America, owing to a great fear his wife holds of the "Black Hand." She recently received a threatening letter, and it frightened her into hysterics. Her husband was finally compelled to take her abroad.

The elder Singer's dinner party further than to say it was a private matter. It is known, however, that the iron king is following out the policy laid down by his lifelong friend, Charles Lockhart of the Standard Oil Company, who some years before his death called all his children into a dinner party and under each place was found a check for $1,000,000.

Mr. Lockhart and Mr. Singer many years ago promised each other they would distribute their wealth among their children "in time to do the children some good."

He Needs No Statue.
"They are talking," said an inventor, of a statue to Isaac Singer of sewing machine fame. They had better erect this statue to Elias Howe.

Singer began life as a "lolly boy" on a canal boat. He rose to match selling, he became a cook, he sold apples in a menagerie, he made five dollars a week as an actor.

He met Elias Howe, a dreamy inventor. The two men liked one another. They were equally poor. They agreed to share the same garret. Here Howe invented the sewing machine.

"But Singer was smart, Howe was dreamy. Singer, not Howe, profited by that invention. Singer, thanks to Howe, made $400,000 a year. Howe thanks to Singer, died poor, miserable and obscure."

"So I say to give Howe the statue. Singer has already got enough out of the sewing machine."

Parrot Hurt Trade.
"I just bought this parrot from a butcher," said the sailor. "It's a rare sort—a gold beak. I got it at a bargain, too—a dollar. The butcher had paid six dollars for it. But it seems the man who sold it to him was a practical joker. He had caught the parrot from a cannibal butcher shop, and he taught it to say the wuest thing possible for such a locality."

"This here parrot didn't last long, for from his perch above the butcher's scales he kept saying out in a sarcastic voice:

"Lovely meat. Don't tell the lady what it weighs. Just tell her what it comes to."

German's Advance in Mining.
Germany in 20 years has increased its yearly mining product from 60,000,000 metric tons to 225,000,000 metric tons. The cost of the output, iron minerals, is salt, iron ores, copper, lead, zinc, pyrites, gold, silver, manganese, arsenic, saltpeter, vitriol and alum. The workmen number about 700,000 and the companies about 2,000.

Elephant and Horse.
An elephant's burden is from 1,800 to 2,500 pounds and that of a horse from 200 to 250 pounds.

A SUDDEN GOLD.

Miss Helen Sauerbier, of 215 Madison St., St. Joseph, Mo., writes an interesting letter on the subject of catching cold, which cannot fail to be of value to all women who catch cold easily.

PERUNA ADVISED FOR SUDDEN COLDS.

It Should be Taken According to Directions on the Bottle, at the First Appearance of the Cold.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 1921. Last winter I caught a sudden cold which developed into an unpleasant catarrh of the head and throat, depriving me of my appetite and usual good spirits. A friend who had been cured by Peruna advised me to try it and I sent for a bottle at once and I managed today that in three days the phlegm had loosened, and I felt better, my appetite returned and within nine days I was in my usual good health.

—Miss Helen Sauerbier.

Peruna is an old and well tried remedy for colds. No woman should be without it.

Much Power from Niagara.
Power generated at Niagara Falls is to be distributed all over Canada. Bids have been asked on 10,000 tons of structural steel for the Canadian government, which will support the cables towers which will support the cables in transporting the current. Already power generated at Niagara is being sent to a distance of more than 125 miles, and it is the intention of the Canadian government to increase this distance, says the Scientific American. Towns in every direction about Niagara will be supplied.

The First Voter.

Young man, great responsibility attaches to your first vote. As you begin, so you are likely to continue.

The momentum that carries you into a party at the beginning of your political life is apt to keep you in that party unless some convincing shakes you out of it. Start right, and in order that you may start right, examine the principles of the parties and the policies which they advocate.

There are two great political organizations in the United States, one fifty years old, and the other more than a century old.

The republican party has been in power almost uninterruptedly for more than half a century, and under its reign abuses have grown up which threaten the perpetuity of the government and endanger our civilization.

So great are these abuses that republican reformers are now pointing out that something must be done—and what can be done?

The first thing is to undo the things that have been done, and the party to undo these abuses is not the party which has done them, but the party which has protested against them and abuses and pointed out remedies.

The republican party has turned the taxing power over to private individuals; it has allowed monopolies to grow up and assume control of the industries of the country by granting privileges by law and by giving immunity to the large violators of the law; the republican party has permitted the fortunes of the predatory rich to become so large that government is corrupted, offices debauched and business prostrated.

The democratic party proposes to withdraw the taxing power from private hands, to so legislate as to make a private monopoly impossible, and to enforce the law without discrimination. It proposes to protect legitimate wealth and punish those who attempt to plunder the public for private gain. On which side do you stand, young man? Are you with the masses in their effort to restore the government to its old foundation and make it a government of the people, for the people and by the people, or are you with the republican leaders in their effort to perpetuate the party in power by selling immunity in return for campaign contributions?

There are always two parties in the country, and one is necessarily nearer to the people than the other. In this country the democratic party is nearer to the people than the republican party. Its leaders have never failed in the people, and are more anxious to keep the government under the control of the people. Take the election of United States senators by the people as a test. The democrats want to give to the voters a chance to elect and to control their representatives in the United States senate. The democratic party in the house of representatives passed the first resolution for the submission of the necessary constitutional amendment. They did this eight years before any republican congress did it. The democratic party has three demands this reform in its national platform. The republican party has not done so. Why do democratic leaders insist upon this reform and republican leaders oppose it? There can be but one answer—the democratic party is nearer to the people than the republican party. Young man, will you stand with the people or against them?

This answer to this question affects your country. If you are with the people you will influence, be it great or small, will hasten their victory. If you are against the people your influence may retard their victory. But while in the first instance it is your country that may gain or lose by your action, you must remember that in the long run your own position in politics will depend upon your conduct. You can not fool the people always. You may lead them astray if you dare, but they will punish you when they find you out. You may work for the people without their recognizing it at first, but you can trust them to discover the character of your work and to reward you accordingly.

"Read This Before You Vote"

A poster is being distributed about the state that is unique in a political way. The head line in bold type is—"READ THIS BEFORE YOU VOTE."

It presents no man's picture and points the promises and good points of no candidate. But it does point out in a very forcible way the immorality of the road amendment to our state constitution.

The Good Roads Association is an organization made of farmers formed with the sole purpose of pushing the cause of better roads in Wisconsin. Realizing that our is the last state to have a constitutional provision forbidding the state to aid the farmers in road building they are doing everything possible to prevent the importance of this amendment to the voters.

The poster states that this amendment is not confined to only one party but that progressive men of all parties favor it. It states that resolutions favoring the amendment have been passed by the State organization of the Equity Society, the State Grange, the Agricultural Experiment Station, and every other important state farmers association, in addition the State Press Association have passed resolutions favoring it.

The difficulty with getting this amendment passed is that, like all amendments it attracts little attention until it is at the bottom of a long ballot and after the voter has not even read the names of all the men who want to see elected he is almost sure to fold up his ballot and hand it in. The voters who vote a straight ticket also fail to vote for the amendment.

The poster ends with words with the request, "Don't forget to vote" mark a cross after "yes" the first thing you do in the voting booth. Every thoughtful voter should make resolve to do this. Wisconsin should not be behind its neighbors, and behind every other progressive state in the building of good roads. The history of road building shows that no country has ever attained good roads until some large unit of government has taken the matter up and helped the local people may for them.

Why Colds Are Dangerous.

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh of the throat and lungs are caused by colds. Cold is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that will not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by Daily Drug & Jewelry Co.

A Jeweler's Experience.

C. R. Kluger, The Jeweler, 1060 Wisconsin Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "It was a week from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. Four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and the irregularities disappeared, and I can now attend to business every day, and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers, as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed. John E. Daly and Johnson & Hill Co."

Free Seeds for Everyone.

Congressman Morse of Antioch is about to begin making out the list of names of those who will receive government seeds free at the coming distribution next March and April. ## Women Interrupt Political Speaker

A well dressed woman interrupted a political speaker recently by continually coughing. Refuse substitutes. John E. Daly and Johnson & Hill Co.

NEKOOSA.

(From the Times.)

C. Marceau, who was home from Wausau on Saturday and Sunday tells of an accident which befell him last Friday that might have been serious but for his presence of mind. He was taking down the slash boards on a dam there, using a plumb bar for that purpose, when a larger part of a section loosened up than he had intended should. He could see that the rush of the water would carry him over the dam along with the planks and in order to escape injury by coming in contact with them he jumped over the slash boards down the slide. His brother, Moon, who saw the accident jumped in after him, but his assistance was not needed. Cloughs getting to terra firma without any trouble.

AYLWARD MAKES CLAIM IN OPENING CAMPAIGN.

FAVORS REJECTED POLICIES.

Ridicules Failure of Republicans to Endorse La Follette Planks—Gives his Reactionaries.

Wausau, Wis., Oct. 21.—Assessing his pride in the leadership of Wisconsin in the great progressive movement, yet declaring that the republican party in this state has turned its back upon reform and is now in the hands of reactionaries, John A. Aylward, democratic nominee for governor, opened his campaign here last night. It was a magnificent and responsive audience which Mr. Aylward addressed. The Wausau theatre was filled, and the speaker's presentation of the needs of Wisconsin and the dangers confronting the reform movement under the new deal which places Senator Stephen and Gov. Davidson in the saddle, were greeted by enthusiastic applause.

Speech Earnest and Dignified.

Mr. Aylward's speech was not a dramatic or hysterical call to arms. It was an earnest and dignified appeal to the voters of Wisconsin not to allow a grant upward and forward movement to receive its first setback in the state which has been the leader of example for all the states and nations as well.

Denounces Campaign Expense.

Mr. Aylward declared his faith in the primary election principle, but denounced what he termed the lavishing of a great state by the lavish use of money in the recent contest for the republican nomination for senator.

Mr. Aylward advocated an amendment to the primary election law, which would prevent members of one party voting the primaries of the opposing party, and urged limiting the expenditures of candidates.

Promotes Primary Amendment.

He said that if nominated he would recommend an amendment to the primary law which would give to the voters the opportunity to express a second choice in the selection of candidates.

He recommended the perfection of the railway commission law so as to prevent railroad companies raising their rates unless they were first given permission by the commission.

Mr. Aylward disapproved at length the effort of Wisconsin progressive republicans to embody the "Wisconsin Idea" in the Chicago platform. He then proceeded to endorse and champion each one of the planks which the Chicago convention had rejected.

He advocated physical valuation of railroad property as the basis of rate making, he urged the election of United States senators by direct vote, and he argues the necessity for publicity in campaign expenditures.

Favors Rejected Policies.

Mr. Aylward then took up the rejected tariff plank and ridiculed the failure of the republican candidates' convention to stand by the demand of the progressive wing of that party for real and effective tariff revision.

Mr. Aylward paid particular attention to the candidate's convention, and the governor's stand with the reactionary element, by making what cannot be interpreted as anything else than a standard tariff speech.

Mr. Aylward devoted much time to national issues, building up a logical argument for Bryan and the democratic platform.

Our Candidate for clerk of Court.

In presenting the name of Ooole G. Cotey to the people of Wood county for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court, the democrats feel that they have selected a good man. Mr. Cotey is a bright young man 28 years of age, eminently fitted for the position in which his friends wish to place him.

Mr. Cotey was born in 1880 and went to school and finished his course at Pittsville in 1896. He then entered the high school in this city and finished here with the class of '00.

From 1900 until 1906 he was employed in various places working as clerk and salesman, and in 1906 he returned to Pittsville, since which time he has been employed in the mercantile business with his father.

He served on the common council of his home city for two years and was re-elected, and also served one term as justice of the peace and was re-elected to the office, but did not serve.

He is not an office seeker, never having sought nor served in an office where there was any salary attached. That he will make a good officer if elected is admitted by all and the voters of Wood county can make no mistake in depositing a ballot for Ooole G. Cotey when election day comes.

WASHINGTON LETTER

[Special Correspondence.]
A great step toward making Washington the magnificent and beautiful city which its founders and its inhabitants have dreamed of, was taken when the senate committee on public buildings and grounds reported favorably a bill to appropriate $10,000,000 to pay for all the lands needed in the plan for the mall, extending from the capitol to the Washington monument.
Under this measure all the buildings and lots on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue will be condemned, the buildings razed and the land added to the great national highway.
An old Senate Official.
C. N. Richards of Massachusetts has been at the head of the senate stationery room for more than fifty years. Naturally Mr. Richards has noted many changes at the capitol during that time. He is somewhat methodical in his habits, and a number of things he has kept a list of the senators who have died in harness since he came to Washington in the early sixties. Fifty-two senators in all have died in office since 1860. New York has never lost a senator by death during the period of Mr. Richards’ service at the capitol.

Army Recruits Searched.
An army officer who is here on a visit has directed attention to the difficulty that officers are experiencing in securing recruits for the army in order to keep it up to anywhere near its legitimate quota. He added that the scarcity of material for the making of fighting men had resulted in a peculiar condition in certain places where there are both army and navy recruiting depots. It has been charged that officers in charge of naval recruiting have “swept” recruits that had been promised to the army, and vice versa, so keen has become the rivalry between the two branches of the service. A number of causes advanced for the scarcity of material for the army are the severe penalties that are inflicted by the courts martial and the absence of “extras” in the menus of the military posts, due to the abolition of the army canteen, which formerly supplied a company fund to provide butter, milk and other things not contemplated in the army supply list.

President May Visit Ohio.
It is probable the president will stop for a short time at Columbus, O., on his return trip from the west in early June when he goes to Indianapolis to unveil a monument to General Lawton on Memorial day and to Lansing, Mich., to address the students of the Michigan Agricultural college. If he stops in Columbus he will deliver an address to the colored people of Ohio under the auspices of the Educational Institute. The colored people are to hold a fair at Columbus the latter part of July, and the president was invited by a delegation from that city to be present on one of the days. This desire, however, was not communicated to the president, and an alternative he expects to stop in Columbus early in June.

Washington Weary.
The beginning of the Leaton season found Washington society decidedly tired. This has been a busy winter at the capital, with numerous dances, dinner parties, receptions and various functions. The host of debutantes has caused life to move on at a swifter pace than usual. Bridges has also taken up much of the time and energy, and has now drawn more heavily on the exchequer. Then such heavy functions as the White House receptions and the numerous dinners and parties given by hosts and hostesses have added to the burden. Seated upon the social dais, altogether it has been a hard and extremely busy winter.

Will Miss the Alger Hospitality.
Sincere regret is felt at the passing of Mrs. Alger as a Washington hostess. It grieves society to think the hospitable home in Sixteenth street will be eliminated from the plans of entertainment. For more than ten years, Mrs. Alger has been a generous hospitality. She was one of the women who know “how to do things.” She had the skill to govern herself, to adorn her home, to get up a banquet for a gourmet or a dyspeptic. But others than the latterly world will miss her. She had a long charity work and was a practical student of social reform. Mrs. Alger will not occupy her Washington home for a long time, though it is hinted that when her grief has been softened by time she will make the capital her winter dwelling place.

In Memory of Lew Wallace.
Captain Megraw of the capitol police force is a native of Indiana and was a member of General Lew Wallace’s regiment. He is a great admirer of the author of “Ben-Hur,” and some time ago he conceived the idea of getting up a petition to the Indiana legislature to request it have a statue of General Wallace placed in Statuary hall, at the capitol. The petition that Captain Megraw prepared is quite an elaborate affair and was on exhibition in his own home on its journey to the Hoosier capitol. It is engrossed on fine heavy parchment, ornamented with the coats of arms of Indiana and the United States and inclosed in a handsome rosewood box. Neither Vice-President Fairbanks nor either of the Indiana senators signed the petition. They think it is said, that the best of President Harrison should go into Statuary hall before that of Wallace. However, all but two members of the Indiana delegation in the house signed the petition, as well as many prominent Indiana residents of Washington.

BRYAN AIDED LA FOLLETTE

Urged Democrats in Legislature to Vote for Rate Bill.

“PEOPLE STAND TOGETHER”

May Be Counted Upon in any Crisis, Said Nebraskan at Madison.

Truth and Logic of Speech Three Years Ago Applies to Republicans Today.

What Will Progressive Republicans Do This Fall?—If Bryan’s Advice Was Good in 1905, It’s Good Now.

Bryan was not afraid of having Democratic thunder stolen by Republicans in 1905 when he addressed the Wisconsin legislature and urged the Democratic members to support the reforms advocated by a Republican governor. Wisconsin’s famous railway commission bill was in process of preparation at that time. It had many enemies among the corporation Republicans in the senate and assembly. It was applied to La Follette and to others that if this bill was to pass at all it would be by the aid of Democratic votes.

It was when this crisis made its first appearance that Bryan came to Madison and made an appeal to the patriotism of Democrats and urged them to support the rate bill, even though a Republican administration was to receive the credit for it. In that brief but eloquent address there were many sound truths which apply with renewed force to the present crisis in Wisconsin. These truths are just as pat in their application to Republicans today as they were in their application to Democrats in 1905. Bryan at that time said in part:

The People Together in Any Crisis.
“It has always been true in any great crisis that you could count upon a coming together of the people to rescue the government from any danger and to remedy any wrong. I believe that I see today a coming together of those in all parties who are anxious to assert the fundamental American doctrine that the people have a right to have what they want in government. For years the corporations have had more influence in politics in this country than they ought to have had. I am not saying this in criticism of any particular party. They have had too much influence in all of the great platforms, nominations and policy decisions, and they have too often dictated the result has been that the masses of the people have endured corporate domination until there is a growing protest that is soon going to make itself effective.”

Foremost of Republican Reformers.
“I am glad to come here, because in this state the Republicans have elected as their governor the man whom I believe has been first and foremost among the Republican reformers of the United States. I am not afraid of any Republican stealing Democratic thunder. Whenever the corporations want to scare the Democrats into opposing something they express fear that the Republican will steal the Democratic thunder. I believe in leaving our thunder on the porch, where it can easily be obtained by anybody who wants it, and I am so in earnest in those things that I want to leave the lightning with the thunder. The lightning is more effective. I have not advocated anything which I have not believed was for the good of my country, and I shall not cease to advocate anything I believe that is good for the country merely because the Republicans commence to advocate these same things.”

Best Thing for Each to Do.
“I believe that the best thing for every Democrat to do is to advocate what he believes to be right, whether he advocates it alone or in company with those of another political party. And, I believe it is good for the Republicans to act upon the same principle. I have no patience whatever with the short-sighted partisan policy that if you can’t get your party through your party must keep the country from getting it until your party gives it. The best evidence a man can give of his sincerity is to help secure a thing when somebody else will get the benefit or the credit for it instead of himself or his party, and I don’t believe that any man can hurt his party permanently by putting the good of his country above the good of his party as it may appear from time to time.”

Vine Street Case Appealed.
M. A. Bogger has appealed from the doings of the board of public works in the matter of damages in the widening of Vine street, and the matter will be tried out in the circuit court in the spring. J. A. Gaynor of this city, M. J. Sicklesteel of Stevens Point are attorneys for Mr. Bogger in the matter.

An Englishman once told of a great joke he played on a friend. He was coming along the street with some companions, and he discovered his friend’s house on fire, with his friend in the third story window shouting for help. “Jump!” he cried. “What was the joke?” the hearer asked. “Why,” the Englishman replied, “we had no blanket at all.”

I continued taking them and now feel better in every way.”

A WORD TO VOTERS

—I am a candidate for the position of leading jeweler and optician. I submit my platform.

I am opposed to ways that are “dark” in business, and favor open and honest methods with the public. I believe in stating values exactly as they are, and advising only for the buyer’s good.

I am in favor of selling only goods of real merit, at prices as low as possible for the quality of continuous business looking for my prosperity to the large volume of trade which fair dealing will bring.

I believe in taking trouble to please customers by prompt return for repair work, careful attention to all orders, and a real interest in their interests. I will take the utmost care in fitting all your eye troubles that can be corrected with glasses, and will advise you correctly where glasses are not needed.

I solicit your vote and influence a visit to my store.

The Conover Pianos are made with remarkable accuracy in every part

You can appreciate the care that is put upon the building of the Conover Pianos. It does not require one of the finest materials in every feature. Not only are the individual parts made with precision, but all are assembled so that each one is in exactly the proper length, it is intended. The strings are of precisely the proper weights and tension; the hammers are made with the greatest care from the best quality of felt, and strike the strings at exactly the proper point; the action is in perfect harmony with all the others, and every element is adjusted to the conscientious regard for precision that makes the Conover Pianos uniform in quality. And there is another feature that exists by reason of these principles of construction—Strength and Durability. The joints of the case are as firm as the solid wood, the many parts of the action move upon each other with the least degree of friction, the wood is thoroughly seasoned and all material is of the finest quality. Built in this way, the Conover is naturally a piano that gives the buyer assurance of lasting service.

Our terms make it easy for anyone to have a Conover

“More Moisture,” says the body

In the blistering hot days of mid-summer the appetite wanes and the thirst is more pronounced. The least exertion causes violent perspiration and the consequent thirst is the cry of the body for its normal allowance of moisture.
It is at this time that the quality of the beverage used is of most importance, for it is immediately assimilated whether it be good or bad.
